A MONTHLY INFORMATION EXCHANGE

is too long to present here, but we'll share it with anybody who is interested.

QUESTION 27 introduced a whole new element into our discussion--the fascinating field of Perfins on "Conderella" items. Are they, as one acquaintance calls them, "trash with holes," or do they represent a distinct branch of our specialty? We'd be interested in your reactions.

In the meantime, help us out on this question.

QUESTION 27 concerned Christmas Seals with Perfins--and we got help from several quarters on that one. Al Bartleson (#146) wrote that he has a 1964 US seal with an H-76. Dave Stump then confirmed that the seals were used on all Bulletins mailed in December of 1964. Barbara Kloss (#870) reports a block of four of the 1939 US seal with a B-153 on it. And as for foreign Christmas seals with Perfins--Leif Bergman (#1109) reports a whole host of Danish and Swedish seals bearing punctured endorsements. The list
